IRELAND

CORK, July 3

An extraordinary scene, in which the County Sub-Sheriff, Mr. John Gale, and Dr. Tanner, M.P., were the chief factors, was enacted this morning at the Cork terminus of the Cork and Macroom Railway. Within the last few months tenants on the Massy Estates at Macroom, have entered into a combination to pay no rent, with the result that eviction proceedings were taken against some of the leaders. About ten minutes to 5 this morning the sheriff, the agent of the property, and a representative for the Cork Defence Union arrived at the Capwell station with a view to proceeding by the 5 o'clock train to carry out the evictions. Shortly afterwards Dr. Tanner and one of the tenants about to be evicted put in an appearance on the platform. Dr. Tanner, on recognizing the sub-sheriff, at once shouted, "Ah, Gale, you are out early on your dirty work." The sub-sheriff made no reply. Dr. Tanner indulged in language characteristic of his recent general behavior, and, addressing the sub-sheriff, said, "Look here, my fine fellow, if the people had rifles you would not come to-night alive, and what's more, I'll make it damnation hot for you to-day."

Dr. Tanner then laid his hand on Mr. Gale's shoulder and made use of a most filthy expression, to the surprise of those present. The sub-sheriff at once retorted and said, "You are a low wretch." The sub-sheriff purchased a first-class ticket, whereupon the member for Mid Cork shouted, "Give me a third-class ticket, I would not travel in the same carriage with this—"

Mr. Gale: "You are a low fellow to use such an expression, and as for your ticket you are only falling into your proper groove."

Dr. Tanner: "No matter, I'll be before you to-day."

Mr. Gale: "It is not the first time you went before me to evictions. You know you often furnished us with the necessary certificates on behalf of the landlords when tenants about to be evicted were shamming illness." This last retort was received with some surprise by the bystanders, and Dr. Tanner proceeded to the train rather crestfallen. The train soon after started, but owing to the threats indulged in by Dr. Tanner the sheriff and agent left the train at the first station and returned to town.

The pig-iron warrant market closed at an all-time high to-day with prices reaching 55s 3d. Analysts were hesitant in stating the reasons for the recent market surge. Midlandsbrough warrants were similarly affected, rising to 53s. 7d.

'SOCIETY BURGLAR'
STILL AT LARGE

After a month of jewelry burglaries from some of London's most fashionable homes, Scotland Yard reports little progress in the identification and apprehension of the so-called "Society Burglar".

The victim of the latest theft, Lady Leeds, has become so overwrought by the invasion of her bedroom by this unknown man and by the loss of her prized diamond tiara, that she has been hospitalized at the suggestion of her physician.

Although any impetus to attack the increasing problem of crime should be welcomed, it is unfortunate that that impetus comes more strongly when the class of victims is expanded.

To the Editor of the Times

Sir,— Surely it is time that some effectual steps should be taken to curb the ambition of our burglars, be they "Society" or not; and, if necessary, by legislation. Prevention is better than cure, and I agree with those who think that a fox terrier in the house is the best means of giving the alarm. But something more than a dog is required. I would suggest the "cat", besides penal servitude, in all cases of burglary, whether the burglars succeed in carrying away anything or not. The "cat" in the sense in which I refer to it, has been most successful as a deterrent in case of personal robbery with violence, and other crimes. Why should it not at once be applied to our burglars, whose calling necessarily involves personal violence?

Your obedient servant,
H. T. B.

'SOCIETY BURGLAR'—
TAKE CLIMBS TO £14,000

That elusive and so-far successful burglar commonly known as the 'Society Burglar' has gotten away with jewels valued at £14,000 by the seven victims to date. Speculation continues as to the identity of the burglar who seems to be acquainted with the various and sometimes ingenious hiding-places of his victims' jewels. The other striking aspects of the modus operandi are the taking of only one select piece each time and the occurrence of all thefts when the victims are not at home.

We have provided for the interest of our readers a list of the various jewels stolen and their values.

OLDENBURG JEWELS STOLEN

Oldenburg, July 2

The jewels of the Duchess of Oldenburg were stolen from the Residenz-Schloss late yesterday afternoon. Sentries guarding the jewels left their posts when smoke began billowing from a small room adjacent to that in which the treasure was kept. The "fire" had apparently been caused by a smoke bomb used by the thief. The police admit to few other clues, but have closed the borders as a first precautionary step. They have also detained several internationally suspected criminals including Helmut Schnitzler and Thomas O'Neill, but found no evidence to hold them.

THE UNITED STATES

Philadelphia, July 3

The Government of the State of Georgia pursues the system of hiring out the convicts in the penitentiaries for work in coalpits. About 100 thus employed, under a guard, in Dade County, after complaining of ill-treatment, revolted, entrenched themselves in a building, and declined to resume work. Their keeper notified the Governor that they declared they would die before surrendering, and he added that some of them must be killed or all must be starved into subordination. The Governor advised a recourse to the plan of starvation.

The guards accordingly made arrangements yesterday to prevent them from obtaining food or water. The convicts have not yet yielded. Many of them are serving life sentences.

DENMARK

Despite persistent denials by Berlingske Tidende, the semi-official organ, the Danish Army have begun exercises of preparedness.

IRELAND

Dublin, July 3

At a meeting of the Limerick Board of Guardians yesterday, the solicitor to the board informed the members that the labourers who had been granted cottages under the Labourers' Act refused to pay rent for their holdings, and had entered into a combination with that object in several districts. The collectors were intimating that if the strike against this payment of rent continued, they would be obliged to give up the collection altogether. The guardians decided on prosecuting the labourers who refused to pay rent, and to evict the others should they persist in their present course.

To the Editor of the Times

Sir,— Will you allow me to ask a question of your correspondents who want to disperse the vicious inhabitants of Flower and Dorset-streets? There are no lower streets in London, and, if they are driven out of these, where are they to go? The horror and excitement caused by the murder of the White-chapel outcasts imply a universal belief that they had a right to life. If they had, then they had the further right to hire shelter from the bitterness of the English night. If they had no such right, then it was, on the whole, a good thing that they fell in with unknown surgical genius. He has made his contribution towards solving the "problem of clearing the East-End of its vicious inhabitants." The typical "Annie Chapman" will always find someone in London town to let her have a "doss" for a consideration. If she is systematically "dispersed," two results will follow. She will carry her taint to streets hitherto untainted, and she will be mulcted in larger sums than before for the accommodation. The price of a doss will rise from 8d. to 10d. or a shilling, the extra pennies representing an insurance fund against prosecution and disturbance. Are these the sort of results that the Rev. Vincent Shelby is working for?

If vestries seem apathetic in the matter of systematic dispersal, it often is because they know that the demand for action is merely an astute manoeuvre on the part of a house monger, who is anxious that the property should become "purchase-able at a fair price."

E.P. Dowd

To The Editor of the Times

Sir,— I should like to write about the decline of morals in the Empire, and the attendant risks. Remember - Rome's moral excesses preceded her fall! Too many of our young people regard the advantages they enjoy as permanent. They ought to recognize that there are maintenance fees.

The usually sure-footed Wallinden's inexplicable fall resulted in the aerial wonder's tragic death when the waiting net gave way.
